IN TUNE WITH WILLIAMS SYNDROME
5 WAYS TO USE MUSIC IN THERAPY

1. To help reduce anxiety, offer a comfy seat and play a song of their choice.

2. Try musical Mad-Libs™ by removing key words from a song and having the student make up new ones to sing.

3. Choose a song with a positive message and afterward have a discussion about what the song means.

4. Set a phone number, address, math fact, or spelling word to a familiar tune.

5. Use musical themes or musical current events during literacy & social studies to increase attention.

For more ideas & songs visit: www.TUNEDIntoLEARNING.com